

Law360 Profiles Greg Varallo for His Lead Plaintiff Role in Columbia Pipeline Merger Litigation

March 12, 2025

BLB&G Partner Greg Varallo has been profiled by Law360 for his lead plaintiff role in In re Columbia Pipeline Group, Inc. Merger Litigation, a high-profile case before the Delaware Supreme Court. Greg is representing former Columbia Pipeline shareholders in a key hearing this month against TC Energy (formerly known as TransCanada), following the firm securing a $350 million trial verdict challenging the company's $13 billion merger.

The profile highlights Greg's impact since joining BLB&G in 2019, including his pivotal role in the landmark case against Tesla that led to the rescission of Elon Musk's unprecedented $55 billion compensation package. He previously worked as a corporate litigator at a prominent Delaware law firm, focusing on high-profile cases involving mergers and acquisitions, securities litigation, and corporate governance matters. Greg continues to advocate for investor protections while leading BLB&G's Delaware office, recently contributing to the department's self-published article "Balancing or Bulldozing? SB 21's Proposal to Abandon the Delaware Model of Corporate Law."
