

BLB&G Associate Aasiya Glover Speaks at PLI “Class Action Litigation 2025” Program

January 14, 2025

BLB&G Associate Aasiya Glover spoke on a panel titled “The Role of Experts in Class Actions” as part of Practising Law Institute’s “Class Action Litigation” program on January 10. The panel discussed best practices for examining and cross-examining an expert witness in the class action setting.

Aasiya practices securities litigation and corporate governance at the firm's New York office on behalf of institutional investor clients. She regularly provides legal commentary on securities-related issues, including in articles published by Law360, Bloomberg Law, and Reuters. Before joining BLB&G, Aasiya was a litigation associate at a leading national law firm, focusing on securities litigation, consumer class actions, investor-state disputes, and contract disputes.
