Emily Shanny, a Senior Investigator at BLB&G, investigates potential securities fraud cases on behalf of the firm's institutional investor clients. She leverages her experience in cross-border investigations, public records research, and advanced interview techniques to uncover the facts and merits of each case.

Before joining BLB&G, Emily worked at the Mintz Group, a corporate investigations firm, where she conducted open-source investigations, due diligence and asset traces for individuals, multinational corporations, law firms, financial institutions, and non-profits.

Emily earned her M.S. in Journalism, with honors, from Columbia University and holds a B.A. in Economics—with minors in Global Social Entrepreneurship and International Affairs—from Northeastern University.
